PROFILE

An initiative-driven thinker passionate about Cybersecurity, Network Automation, and the Internet of Things (IoT). With a solid foundation in both software and hardware, I aim to apply my skills in ethical hacking, machine learning, and artificial intelligence to tackle real-world challenges, streamline repetitive tasks, and enhance security protocols. My fascination with hardware intricacies allows me to identify vulnerabilities and contribute to the development of secure and efficient systems.

I aspire to leverage my growing expertise in computer science, automation, and cybersecurity to create innovative, impactful solutions while driving organizational success and continually advancing my technical proficiency in a dynamic environment.
